

RECOGNITION OF DEATH

Solemn Ceremony Around Body of Late Pope Leo.

KNEEL AROUND BODY

Twenty-Nine Church Dignitaries Assemble in the Death Chamber and Dean of Sacred College Conducts Services.

Rome, July 21.—Tuesday morning began the first of those grandiose and unique ceremonies which follow the demise of a pope, and, although private, it is conducted with great pomp and is most impressive. All cardinals present in Rome, numbering twenty-nine, assembled at the Vatican to view the remains of the late Pope Leo XIII. and officially pronounce him dead. Cardinal Oreglia, dean of the sacred college and the camerlingo of the Holy Roman Catholic church, had put aside his cardinal robes as a sign of deep mourning and was gowned entirely in violet. The other cardinals wore crimson robes with violet collars, indicative of mourning. Within the death chamber the body lay with a white veil over the face, on the bed surrounded by Franciscan penitentiaries, while the Noble Guard maintained a solemn vigil. The profound silence was only broken by the chanting of prayers for the dead. Into this solemn presence came the mourning procession of cardinals, who, kneeling, silently prayed. Then the prelates reverently looked on while Cardinal Oreglia approached the remains. For these functions the pope's bedroom had been transformed into a kind of mortuary chapel with an altar at one end, having in the center a crucifix surrounded by six lighted candles. Four candles stood at the bed corners. The white veil was then removed from the dead man's face, revealing the cameo-like features of the departed pope, rendered sharper and more transparent by death. So life-like was the body that those present half expected Leo to raise his hand in his familiar gesture of blessing.

A moment of breathless silence ensued, and then the cardinal camerlingo, taking the aspersorium, sprinkled the late pontiff with holy water and said in a firm voice, "Gloachimo," (the Christian name of the deceased pope). When there was no answer the same words were repeated three times, louder and louder, after which, turning to the kneeling cardinals the camerlingo solemnly announced: "Papa vere mortuus est" (The pope is really dead). As these words were uttered there arose from the kneeling cardinals a sigh like that of the wind in the trees at night—a tribute paid to the late pontiff by those princely heads of the church. After this in voices trembling with emotion, the ranking cardinals recited the De Profundis, gave absolution and sprinkled the body with holy water.

Following the ceremony of the recognition of the death of the pope by the sacred college came another, shorter, but no less significant and symbolic. On Leo's finger was the famous Fisherman's ring, which the camerlingo, with a whispered prayer, drew gently off and which later will be broken in the presence of the cardinals, reset and presented to the next pope when elected.

LEO'S SUCCESSOR.

He May Be a Cardinal at Present Not Thought Of.

Rome, July 21.—According to a statement coming from a high ecclesiastic, arrangements at the Vatican are being pressed forward which will enable the conclave of cardinals to begin sitting Aug. 1. However, it is now thought the sessions may last considerably longer than at first expected—even long enough to permit Cardinal Moran of Sidney, N. S. W., to arrive in time to take part in the proceedings.

The ambassador accredited to the Vatican says the question of Pope Leo's successor is peculiarly an open one at the present moment. The personality of the candidates plays a much more important part than in any proceeding at the conclave, since conditions prevailing in the past are now entirely changed. Formerly the sacred college was divided into several distinct parties. At first it was composed of cardinals who were members of great Roman families, nearly every one of which was represented in the college. These always exerted a very powerful influence in the election of a pope. At the present time there is only one scion of a great Roman house among the cardinals, namely, Cardinal Battista Casali del Drago, who from the standpoint of the election of a new pontiff is relatively unimportant. Then there is a party composed of cardinals appointed by the same pope, who usually ranged themselves into separate bodies. In addition to members of the sacred college appointed by a pope who has just passed away there are usually considerable numbers chosen by his predecessor, and even a few nominated by the pope preceding him. In consequence of Leo XIII's long reign these parties have entirely disappeared. In the present conclave there will be only one cardinal, Oreglia, who was not appointed by Pope Leo. As a result of these changes the approaching conclave will be much more under the influence of individual candidates than in the past, rendering it impossible to forecast an election with any degree of certainty.

It is considered highly probable that the new pope will be a man at present not thought of and not talked about.

Requiem Masses.

New Orleans, July 21.—Archbishop Chapelle and Bishop Rouxel being absent, Acting Administrator Laval of the Louisiana diocese has issued a notice of the pope's death. All Catholic churches will toll their bells daily, requiem masses be said on the day of the funeral and an elaborate memorial service will be held Sunday at St. Louis' cathedral.

WISH TO EMBALM.

Hundreds of Offers Have Been Received at the Vatican.

Rome, July 21.—Hundreds of offers come from Italy and abroad from doctors, druggists and specialists for embalming the remains of Pope Leo, but naturally not one of them has been accepted.

Cardinal Rampolla intended to leave the Vatican Monday immediately after the death of the pope, when having officially announced the demise of the pontiff to the diplomatic body as accredited to the Vatican and papal nuncios, with instructions to have the news communicated to the various foreign rulers, he considered his duties as papal secretary of state to have ended. Rampolla was on the point of leaving when Cardinal Oreglia insistently begged him to remain in the apartment he had occupied over sixteen years and the secretary of state acceded to the request.

Th vicar of Rome, Cardinal Pietro Respighi, has caused to be attached to the doors of the churches announcement of the death of Pope Leo, with instructions regarding prayers to be offered, and also giving information about the funeral services.

The government of the Catholic church has been officially assumed by Cardinal Oreglia as dean of the sacred college and as dean of the cardinal of bishops. He will be assisted by the dens of the other two orders of cardinals—Cardinal Macchi of the cardinal of deacons and Cardinal Rampolla for the cardinal priests, the last, however, merely as a substitute for Cardinal Netto, patriarch of Lisbon, who when he arrives will look after his duties.

Cardinals present in Rome met Tuesday morning under Cardinal Oreglia, in the preparatory congregation, held in the hall of the consistory.

The Italian government has given orders to railroad officials that cardinals coming to Rome for the conclave shall be considered princes of blood and must have reserved compartments or salon cars placed at their disposal from the frontier. In addition, instructions have been given all government authorities to put themselves at the disposal of the cardinals if they are requested to do so, and to leave nothing undone for their accommodation and protection.

Has Taken No Steps.

Paris, July 21.—The Associated Press is authorized by the French foreign office to say the French government has taken no steps to exert any influence on the conclave and it is believed other Catholic states will adopt the same course. While French preferences lean toward Cardinal Rampolla, no steps are being taken in his favor.

GRAIN RATES.

Railroad Men Say They Know of No Special Privileges.

Fort Worth, July 21.—In the grain rate hearing before Judges Prouty and Clements of the interstate commerce commission Chairman Clements told Auditor Laws of the Rock Island railway, a witness, that he would be required to produce a statement showing business transactions between his road and the Rosenbaum Grain company.

J. C. McCabe, general freight agent of the Rock Island, testified that he knew of no special privileges granted to the Rosenbaum Grain company that were not given other shippers.

J. N. Rayzor Miller of Denton stated he was unable to buy grain in the territory covered by the Rosenbaum company because he thought that company had special rates not enjoyed by his company.

BATTLE PROBABLE.

Soldiers and Armed Cattlemen Are Likely to Have a Clash.

Cheyenne, Wyo., July 21.—A battle between troops and armed cattlemen is believed to be imminent in the Big Horn country. Sheriff Fenton and deputies left Thermopolis for the basin with Jim McCloud, charged with the murder of Ben Minnick, a flockmaster. The party was escorted by the Basin Light battery of forty men under Capt. Price. It is reported that a large force of cattlemen have fixed an ambushade on Cottonwood creek, twenty-five miles from Thermopolis, and will endeavor to release McCloud.

CULVER'S ACT.

Sails Up the Orinoco River and Releases Five Vessels.

Washington, July 21.—A cable dispatch from Lieutenant Commander Culver of the Bancroft says that on July 10, he sailed up the Orinoco river to Ciudad Bolivar and released five steamers of the Orinoco Steamship company, three of which had been seized by the revolutionary forces and two by the government. Commander Culver took aboard the Bancroft refugees of all nations who desired to escape the bombardment. The navy department is greatly pleased with the action of the Bancroft.

BRYAN, TEXAS, JULY 22, 1903

According to a late issue of the Navasota Examiner, the business league of that city has raised $2,000 for establishing a creamery and cannery and $5,000 for a brickyard.

A merchant may do business after a fashion without advertising, just as a man may live without washing, but neither course is to be recommended—Retailer and Advertiser.

The Madisonville Meteor says, "Every man in town who should belong to the Business League is a member, with but two or three exceptions. The membership now numbers forty-nine. There are 21 merchants, 6 doctors, 5 lawyers, 5 county officers, 3 clerks, 2 newspaper men, 2 farmers, 1 banker, 1 liveryman, 1 barber, 1 photographer and 1 dentist." If every man who ought to belong to the Bryan league was a member and would attend the meetings it would indeed be a power for good in the town and county.

The people of Bedia, in north Grimes County are jubilant over the near approach of the branch of the I & G N. They can now hear the whistle and smell the smoke from the engine of the track laying train which is covering three quarters of a mile per day. The Bedia correspondent of the News writes: With a depot here, we will now have several new business houses, among them being R. E. L. Upchurch of Pankey, C. V. Barnes of Cotton, Burtis Bros. of Madisonville and others. A newspaper will be started by W. L. Turner, and Whit Smith will erect a new hotel building and store, as will Plasters & Midkiff.

NEW DRY GOODS HOUSE.

Sam B. Wilson Will Open One in Bryan Soon—Dry Goods, Shoes and Ladies' Goods.

Mr. Sam B. Wilson made the announcement yesterday that he has leased from Mr. E. H. Edge the corner building on east Main street, formerly occupied by the Kochanowitz saloon, and will open therein, between August 15 and Sept. 1, a large stock of medium and high grade dry goods, shoes and ladies' goods, the latter department being under the management of a lady.

The front of the building will be entirely remodeled and a plate glass front, with center entrance and large show windows, put in. Up-to-date shelving and fixtures will also be installed, and nothing omitted to make the place convenient and attractive. Mr. Wilson will leave for New York about August 1.

The Eagle is glad to announce Mr. Wilson's decision to remain in Bryan, and with his business ability, experience and hustling qualities no doubt of his success remains. He hopes to have a liberal share of the patronage of the public and this the Eagle bespeaks for him.

While out driving yesterday morning Mrs. F. Marion Law and little son and Mrs. Paul Bradley were victims of a runaway accident in which all three were more or less painfully injured, but fortunately none of them seriously so. The animal they were driving began jumping and kicked and broke the shafts and kicked in the dashboard. The buggy ran into the water trough near the Bryan Grocery Co.'s store and the occupants were thrown out. The ladies were bruised up by the fall and the baby got a cut on his mouth. Mrs. Bradley, who was holding the child, held on to him bravely or he would likely have been killed.

DEATH NOT THE ENDLESS JAPANESE DESIRE WAR

"The Pain I Suffer Is Most Terrible," Said Dying Pontiff.

Belligerent Feeling in That Country Said to Be Strong.

FROM AGONY TO COMA

Death Occurred Through Complete Exhaustion, Although During Last Two Hours Resistance Was Great.

ATTITUDE OF CHINA.

Friendship Said to Exist Between That Country and Russia Is the Alleged Cause of the Mikado's Ire.

Rome, July 21.—Pope Leo's final moments were marked by that same serenity, and when he was conscious that same calm intelligence which were associated with his twenty-five years' pontificate. His was no easy death. An hour before he died, turning to Dr. Laponi and his devoted valet, Pio Centar, he murmured, "The pain I suffer is most terrible." Yet his parting words were not of the physical anguish that he suffered, but were whispered benedictions upon the cardinals and his nephews, who knelt at the bedside, and the last look of his almost sightless eyes was towards the great ivory crucifix hanging in the death chamber.

The condition of the pontiff varied from agony to coma. Wishing to relieve him, Dr. Mazzoni suggested that morphine should be administered, but Dr. Laponi did not agree, fearing that the end might be quickened.

Of this supreme moment Dr. Laponi gives an impressive description. He said: "Death occurred through exhaustion, although during the last two hours Pope Leo made a desperate effort to gather together all his energies. He recognized those about him by the sound of their voices, as his sight was almost entirely lost. Still, he made a marvelous display of his energy, and even his death was really grand. It was resigned, calm and serene. Very few examples can be given of a man of such advanced age after so exhaustive an illness showing such supreme courage in dying. The pontiff's last breath was taken at exactly four minutes past four. I put a lighted candle to his mouth three times, according to the traditional ceremonial, and afterward declared the pope to be no more. I then went to inform Cardinal Oreglia, the dean of the sacred college, who immediately assumed full power, and gave orders that the Vatican be cleared of all curious persons having no right to be therein. The contemporaneous cardinal instructed Mgr. Righi, cardinal of ceremonies, to send the Swiss Guards from the Clementine hall to close all the entrances to the Vatican and to dismiss all persons from the death chamber, the body being entrusted to the Franciscan penitentiaries."

The period of over two weeks that pope passed in the shadow of death was no less wonder than his life. His splendid battle against disease was watched the world over with sympathetic admiration, and ended only after a series of tremendous efforts to conquer the weakness of his aged frame by the marvelous will power of his mind. The pleurisy-pneumonia with which he had been suffering was scarcely so responsible for his death as that inevitable decay of tissue which ensues upon ninety-three years of life. The tested armor, which had so often resisted human ills, was penetrated at last. The emaciated and lifeless frame which held so brave a spirit lies on the bed in the Vatican beside which almost all the world has prayed. The red damask coverlet rests lightly over the body. The cardinal's scarlet cape is about the shoulders, while on his head has been placed a papal hand of velvet, bordered with ermine. A white silk handkerchief is bound about his chin, and in the hands, which have blessed so many, is placed a crucifix.

IRELAND'S EULOGY.

Archbishop Pays a Glowing Tribute to the Dead Prelate.

St. Paul, Minn., July 21.—Upon receipt of the news of the death of Pope Leo, Archbishop Ireland paid a glowing tribute to the dead prelate. He said in part:

"In Leo a truly great and good man passes from earth. The extraordinary, the unparalleled interests with which the world this last fortnight kept vigil around the vatican, where the old hero battled dramatically with grim death, is a magnificent tribute to Leo which could have ever evoked, save unusual grandeur of soul and unusual features, the offspring of that grandeur. In the death of Leo, humanity realizes that an orbit of light, such as is seldom seen to dominate the high skies of its moral and intellectual firmament has fallen, making a mighty void which soon again may not be filled. Great and good Leo, truly, was fashioned so by nature and by grace divine. What a mind it was, lofty in vision; reaching out to the vast horizons, soaring upward to highest regions of thought and truth. When he ascended the pontifical throne, he resolved that so far as opportunity came his would be historic pontificate and he worked conscientiously during his life. Greatness includes goodness, or at least without goodness, greatness is no boon to humanity. Leo was a good man; he shone in every virtue; his life was unblemished. He was deeply imbued with the spirit of faith. He lived and worked hourly for God and for man. Most high minded disinterestedness of purpose, most absolute concentration of self to the duties of his exalted office characterized all his thoughts and acts.

"With Leo there dies the admirer and the lover of America. Said he to a bishop from America one day: 'Oh, America; it is the future.' Leo's clear vision of things far into time as well as into space had endeared America to him. As no other statesman in Europe, Leo understood America—its possibilities and the meaning of its institutions."

Victoria, B. C., July 21.—The steamer Indrasamiha, which arrived Monday night, brought news of war feeling in Japan stronger than ever when the steamer sailed, because of alleged concessions made by the Chinese government to Russia, increasing the excitement of the Japanese. The papers are also accentuated by the change of attitude of Prince Ching, who is said to have gone over completely to the Russian side. The Kobe Chronicle says Admiral Hiyakka, chief commander of the Japanese squadron, addressed a memorial to the naval staff department, suggesting the advisability of organizing a Japanese squadron and also the necessity of formulating a plan of defense and general operation from a naval standpoint. Count Okuma, a prominent Japanese statesman, said Japan would ask an explanation of Russia's arbitrary conduct in Korea and Manchuria, and should the answer be unsatisfactory a strong protest should be sent and the question at same time submitted to other powers. He said in taking such a step Japan must be prepared to resort to arms if necessary. "At present Japan is superior to Russia armaments in the far east and Japan's cause is a right one. However imprudent Russia might be, she will not venture going to war and risk offending all powers," and he believed the protest would be successful.

IN IRELAND.

King and Queen of Great Britain and Princess Victoria There.

Kingston, Ireand, July 21.—King Edward and Queen Alexandra, accompanied by Princess Victoria and their suites, arrived here on board the royal yacht Victoria and Albert. Immediately after the yacht took a position in the harbor a royal salute was fired by thirteen vessels of the home fleet. A heavy rain which had been falling since an early hour ceased at 9 o'clock and the sky cleared, giving promise of fine weather for the royal entrance into Dublin.

In replying to an address here King Edward said he shared in the sadness of the multitude of his subjects over the news of the pope's death. The king added that his visit came at a time when a new era was opening for Ireland.

A special performance, which had been planned for the Royal theater in Dublin July 24, has been countermanded in consequence of Pope Leo's death.
